SUNDAY MORNING FIRE ENTAILS MUCH LOSS.

Occupants Make Very Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Wm. Wicking Loses House,
S. H. Cove Workshop, and Mrs.
Shoemaker Garage.

Early Sunday morning, about 3:30 o'clock the cottage of Mrs. Wm. Wicking, in which she resided, on Volusia avenue, between Ridgewood avenue and the F. E. C. Ry., was discovered to be on fire, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Jackson, of Pittsburg, Pa., who occupied a first floor front room, awakening to the fact. It is due to their presence of mind and prompt action in rushing hastily up stairs and awakening Mrs. Wicking and her daughter, Miss Bertha, and Messrs. Blake and Pete Hart that they all got out alive for the house was practically enveloped in flames when the first occupants awoke to their perilous situation. The house was so nearly enveloped in flames that Mrs. Wicking had to be carried over the veranda railing, and no one attempted to dress, the ladies escaping in their night robes as did the men in their night apparel.

The Hart boys threw their trunk out of the up-stairs window, Mr. Jackson grabbed a pair of trousers as he rushed out, and Miss Bertha Wicking grabbed two hats from a rack as she rushed by in the hall. Further than this, their clothing, and everything in the building went up in smoke.

The origin of the fire cannot be definitely ascertained. Probably the most plausible theory, and the one which subsequent developments tend to confirm, is that it was a defect of construction in the lower part of the chimney and of the hearth. A wooden beam ran between the chimney and a flue entering chimney from an adjoining room, and was a few inches only from the fireplace in which a fire burned Saturday and into the night.

Evidently the fire had been smouldering for hours before it burst into flame. Mrs. Jackson called Mr. Jackson's attention to the smell of smoke in their room when they went home from the Troy House, where they took their meals. This was at early bedtime. Again in the night, at just what hour they do not know, Mrs. Jackson insisted that there was fire, and a search was made without locating any.

A passer by between two and three o'clock in the morning saw a small blaze under the house but thought it a basement blaze, probably meant to keep plants from freezing as the night was threatening.

Miss Wicking was the first, after emerging from the building, to yell "fire." Messengers on wheels took up the cry through the streets, bells were rung, shots fired, and soon a crowd was assembled. The heroic work of the F. E. C. paint gang, of some from the depot, of E. L. Gunn, and other active workers of the vicinity, saved the adjoining house on the west.

Too much cannot be said in praise of a score or more of young men, who suffered heat and ran risks in an effort to arrest the spread of the flames.

After working its way through S. H. Gove's buildings and consuming the Godman garage the fire spent its MATRIMONIAL MATCHES MULTIPLIED.

Divorce Dividends Doubled—Will
The Daytona Notary's Knot
Stay Tied?

NEW YORK PLEASE TAKE NOTICE.

A Daytona notary was called on Christmas Day to execute a little matrimonial knot-tying, but just how long the notary's bonds will stay sealed, and the contracting parties remain in Hymen's traces remains to be seen. If any wedding surroundings and setting ever surpassed or even equalled the wedding festivities reported from the Temoka settlement on Christmas Day the Florida press has been delirious in reporting the event.

The first thing to mark the occasion as interesting was the youthfulness and unsophisticatedness of the bride, a girl of 16 years, in short skirts. The youthful bride was bewitchingly gowned in white and wore the bridal veil though rosy with blushes, she was radiantly happy, while the proud bridegroom, who evidently had seen many more summer suns, if not many more winters' frosts, gave unmistakable token that it was the proudest moment of his life.

There was but one omission to mar the beauty of the scene, and that was doubtless an oversight on the part of the officiating notary. He neglected to do the customary little oculatory stunt with the blushing bride immediately after tying the knot.

The second feature of interest which should challenge the admiration of Pittsburg or Salt Lake City is the fact that the bride's mother was radiant in the presence of three living husbands. While the notary performed the ceremony she sat complacently between No. 3 and a former divorced spouse, the other one occupying a seat with the gay and gladsome throng.

The third feature which would mark the occasion as one of more than passing interest was the fact that one of the gentlemen spectators had present in the happy throng a couple of "spouses" to whom, under mistletoe as green and berries as delicate and waxy, he had once pledged his troth.

A Narrow Escape.

An accident was narrowly averted Sunday afternoon on the New Smyrna road when on a curve one of the Abercrombie machines and another machine carrying two men barely missed a head-on collision. The Abercrombie machine was to the right, and the other clear to the left, nearly crowding the Abercrombie machine into the river. The other machine turned half over, falling against the local auto. No one was injured, but two badly frightened men climbed out of the overturned machine.

ARE LOOKING FOR A LEADER.

[By United Press.]

STEARNS, Ky., Dec. 28.—The presence of two companies of state troops have brought quiet out of the turmoil and anxiety of the past two days. Steps are being taken to arrest the leaders of the miners who fired on the sheriffs Christmas day but as they are heavily armed a battle is looked for.

An Ancient Bone.

Dr. S. W. Carroll has on exhibition at his store on North Beach street the rib bone of a mastodon, which was unearthed some time ago in one of the marl pits in this vicinity by J. P. Browning.

The bone in question, which has been lying around unnoticed until recently, is nine feet in length and probably weighs in the neighborhood of fifty pounds. Dr. Carroll says that there was evidently more of the bone originally as a portion connecting it with the vertebra is now missing.

Cattle Plague Subsides.

[By United Press.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 28.—The abatement of the cattle plague quarantine which will release from shipment from central counties of the state into other states thousands of carloads of hay valued at ten million dollars, will go into effect tomorrow. No case of the plague has been found for nineteen days and the state and federal authorities are confident the outbreak has been effectually smothered.

LODGE OF ELKS SOON TO BE INSTITUTED.

January 8th Decided as Date For
The Installation—Large
Charter List.

The lodge of Elks will be installed in Daytona Friday evening, Jan. 8. Major J. D. C. Morris and Louis Adler spent Sunday at Orlando in conference with District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Henry S. Chubb and officials of the Orlando lodge of Elks, and the above date was decided upon for the installation.

The initiation will occur at Masonic hall and will be under the auspices of the Orlando lodge, although other lodges will participate.

A meeting of Elks is called for next Friday evening to arrange details. A charter list was signed up many months ago and all who signed the list are expected to report the 8th.

HAINS PLAYS A STRONG CARD.

[By United Press.]

FLUSHING, L. I., Dec. 28.—The defense in the Haines murder case today placed on the stand its strongest witness outside of Thornton Haines himself, in the person of Charles R. Weaver, who swore that on the day of the killing he was responsible for Captain and Thornton J. Haines going to Bayside. They would have gone to Fort Hancock instead of Long Island, he swore, if he had not met them. Weaver also testified that while Captain Haines was all right before he went to the Philippines he was irrational after his return.

HOW YOU SHOULD EAT AN ORANGE.

Not Everyone Knows How to Enjoy This Delicious
Fruit.

W. S. Chapman, in the Florida Fruit and Produce News, published at Jacksonville, tells how to eat an orange, as follows:

Think that you know how? Well perhaps you do. Some people do really know how, but not many—aside from Southern "Crackers," or natives.

Strange to say? Not a bit of it. The crackers live on oranges, mainly, in their seasons, and their stomachs have educated them, through many bitter experiences, how an orange should be eaten.

Some will tell you to eat an orange before breakfast; others say at breakfast, still others, that all fruit should follow the dinner courses, etc., etc.

The time to eat is not the most important consideration, but the manner in which it is eaten.

Now, watch a Cracker eat oranges—not an orange, but oranges. See that well-filled basket by his side? Well there won't be any to give away when he wipes his mouth on his shirt sleeve and snaps his jack knife shut.

First, you see, he wipes the orange around the top to clear it of fungus and

and Fire at Ruler.

CLOSE CALL FOR THEIR APPARENT.

[By United Press.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 28.—Two men disguised as priests succeeded Saturday in entering the cabinet chamber at Teheran, where a conference of ministers was being held, and attempted to shoot the ruler, according to dispatches received today.

Casualty policemen overpowered the would-be assassins, but not until they had fired one shot which pierced the epaulette of the heir apparent.

Remains Sent North.

The body of Ezra Bond, who died at his home on South Ridgewood avenue Christmas morning, was sent north Saturday for interment at the old home at Kirtland, near Cleveland, Ohio. The remains were accompanied by the widow and her son, E. L. Bond, of Orange avenue. The deceased was 83 years of age and Mr. and Mrs. Bond had spent 62 years together in wedded life.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 28.—Judge Hart today refused bail to Colonel and Robin Cooper on charge of murdering ex-Senator Carmack. The prisoners will have to remain in jail until the date of their trial, which is set for January 20th.

Off for Gainesville.

Professor J. L. Wright and a number of teachers of the Daytona high school leave in the morning for the annual meeting of the Florida State Teachers' association, which convenes in Gainesville Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The fare is only $3.40 for the round trip and others besides teachers will take rates to make a trip to the interior.

Death and Suffering Are Appalling.

People Flee From Falling Buildings Scantily Clad and Are Suffering Untold Misery

[By United Press.]

ROME Dec. 28.—Eight districts in the Province of Catanzaro, Southwestern Italy, were laid waste this morning by three rapidly successive earthquake shocks.

It is impossible to estimate the number of dead, and the property damage done.

A dozen or more towns were destroyed. Those suffering the heaviest are Stefanaconi, Mezzocassale, Majerato and Santonofrio.

The shock came while people were asleep and they were given no time to escape from the toppling walls of their homes.

A number of bodies have already been taken from the ruins and the work of rescue has barely started.

It is feared that the death list will reach appalling figures. Those who escaped were scantily clad, and suffered intensely from the cold.

A message from Monteleone says that troops have been ordered to the scene to check the looting, which is in progress.

Several prisons were broken open in the confusion attending the quakes and the prisoners escaped and are now preying upon the victims of the disaster.

Monteleone reports heavy death lists in the communities of Borgia, Contrache, Olivadi, Savute, Pomerano, Motia and Tropic.

Christmas Sunday Enjoyed.

Sunday was almost ideal as to temperature and sunshine, just cool enough to be bracing and give quickness and elasticity to the step. Everybody were out enjoying themselves and everything on wheels turned. Carriages, horse and horseless, bicycles, motor cycles, chairs, tricycles and pedestrians thronged the avenues and beach and the salt air was most refreshing.

It was a Christmas Sunday long to be remembered, not only for the outdoor recreation which all enjoyed but for the good cheer within when the dinner hour came. Many invitations were extended and visits exchanged and hundreds of cottagers were for the day guests of the hotels.

Services at the churches were very largely attended, and most interesting sermons and enchanting music, suitable to the Christmas tide, were enjoyed. The decorations in many places were a most pleasing feature.

By water scores of people sought a few hours' trip of sight seeing, sharpening both appetite and wit, and returned ready for a hearty meal and sound sleep.

Many made the run by beach to the light house and admired the stately government structure. Christmas Sunday was a decidedly pleasant one all round.

THE RIDGEWOOD
E. D. LANGWORTHY, Proprietor,
THE house is charmingly situated on Ridgewood Avenue, the highest and most healthful point in the town of Daytona. It is very tastefully and comfortably furnished and is modern in every respect. The vegetables are from the Ridgewood garden, and native fruits, which grow in abundance, are a feature of the table.

ABLE TO HEAR IT.
Joseph Medill of the Chicago Tribune
was somewhat deaf, although his ability at times to hear what was said in an ordinary tone of voice was frequently remarked. It is related of him that he dropped into the business department of the office one day to make an inquiry about something that had occurred to him, and a young man who had been in his employ only a few months undertook in a loud tone of voice to enlighten him.
"What did you say?" asked Mr. Medill, putting his hand to his ear.
The young man repeated the question in a still louder voice.
"I can't hear you," said the editor.
"Oh, chase yourself around the block,
you old granny!" muttered the impatient employee just above his breath.
"I am not an old granny," said Mr.
Medill, turning away, "and I shall not chase myself around the block."
The fresh young man made immediate arrangements to say goodbye to his job, but the great editor probably thought that the lesson he had received was sufficient and did not disturb him.

A Famous London Tavern.
The Mermald was the name of a famous London tavern frequented by noted literary men and actors during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. All the wit and talent of the time assembled there for convivial enjoyment. Authors have made it the scene of great mind combats between such men as Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, Beaumont, Fletcher, Seiden, Carew, Donne and others of reverential memory. It was the gathering place of the celebrated Mermald club, the origin of which is ascribed to Sir Walter Raleigh. The Mermald tavern was located in Bread street and was handily reached from three thoroughfares, so that it has been often referred to in various ways.
The Mermald in Bread street, the Mermaid in Friday street and the Mermald in Cheap street were, however, all one and the same. It was the nearest to Bread street. The Mermald was destroyed in the great London fire. There were other Mermald taverns, one in Cheapside and another in Cornhill, but they had no such associations as clung to that of Bread street.

Origin of the Word "Bogus."
The word "bogus" is said by Dr. Ogilvie to be derived from Boghese, the name of a notorious American swindler who about the year 1835 flooded the western and southwestern states with counterfeit bills, sham mortgages, etc.
Others connect the word with "bogy," a scarecrow or goblin, or so applied to anything fictitious or chimerical.
Lowell in the "Biglow Papers" says:
"I more than suspect the word to be a corruption of the French bogasse."
This bogasse was the sugar cane as delivered in its dry, crushed state from the mill, also called cane trash and fit
only for burning, being synonymous with useless rubbish.
Again, according to Brewer, there is in French argot or thieves' slang a word "bogue," which signifies the rind of a green chestnut or the case of a watch, and this also brings us to the idea of an outward seeming without any solid or reputable foundation.—
Kansas City Journal.

The Queerest Salad.
A gourmet as he mixed a salad of chicory said: "The world's queerest salad, and possibly its most delicious
one, is eaten by the Indians of northwest Greenland. It is a salad of undigested moss from the stomach of a fresh killed reindeer, a bitter, sharp, stimulating salad, as good for the digestion
as an electrical massage.
The Indians live almost exclusively on fish;
hence salads are a favorite dish with them. But no salad in their minds compares with that which they wrest from the slaughtered reindeer. They say this salad is crisp, tender and more appetizing than any other, and they say it wards off indigestion. They fight for it, they spend their last penny on it, quite as the Indians do with firewater."—Exchange.

Too Much For Him.
Smithson used to labor under the impression that he was a born humorist,
but he has given up trying to be funny
now.
He called one day on an old school
friend and was shown into a room
where his chum's sister was busy arranging a quantity of dried grass which she had collected.
"What a quantity of dried grass you have collected, Miss Ritchie!" he said.
Then his humor burst forth. "Nice room for a donkey to get into!"
"Make yourself at home, Mr. Smithson," said the girl pleasantly.
When he arrived home all the humor
was crushed out of him forever.—London Scraps.

In the Same Boat.
The stranger advanced toward the door. Mrs. O'Toole stood in the doorway with a rough stick in her left hand and a frown on her brow.
"Good morning," said the stranger
politely. "I'm looking for Mr.
O'Toole."
"So'm I," said Mrs. O'Toole, shifting her club over to her other hand.—Everybody's.

the matrimonial process is like that of Sitting Bull.

To look at Sitting Bull one would say that he was always quiet and self contained. In fact, he did usually keep himself under control, but he was cruel and almost heartless. He had practiced cruelty to animals and men from his childhood and as long as he lived;
he was full of passion and often very angry. He was always imperious and insolent toward our generals, the Indian agent and other friends of the great father at Washington, whom he claimed to hate. He had great talent and ability to plan campaigns and battles and wonderful influence in bringing Indians together. Notwithstanding all this, he was afraid of death,
and though he planned the greatest victory which the Indians ever gained over white men, Sitting Bull himself was a coward and disgraced himself even before his own people by running away in the very face of success.—
General Howard in St. Nicholas.

Folklore Stories.
The Journal of American Folklore
has some interesting folk tales of the Nea Peres Indians:
"Once the sun fell down from the sky
just about sunrise. Mole caught it and held it up until people got there and helped him to shove it back. The sun had meant to roll along on the ground instead of in the sky. It was from holding up the sun that Mole's hands are bent so far back."
"Coyote and Cloud ran a race. Cloud beat storm and Coyote clear weather.
They started far away to the south,
and for awhile Coyote was in the lead.
Then Cloud made fruits of all kinds to grow in front of Coyote, and he, looking back and seeing Cloud far behind, stopped to eat. In this way Cloud caught up and won. This is why we have storms in winter time."

Despland Hotel.
A. Hollstrom is a guest at The Despland.
T. A. Hollnooke, wife and child, Mrs.
W. B. Irving, of Toronto, were on the regular trip up the Tomoka on the steamer Dixie Saturday.
Yesterday nearly every church had its congregation augmented by guests from The Despland.

The Ridgewood.
The arrivals at The Ridgewood over Sunday were C. Dunlap and wife, Jacksonville; Daniel Lees, Philadelphia, and
C. W. Richardson, Jacksonville.
The guests at The Ridgewood were given a little scare during the fire early Sunday morning. It looked like that at any time a flying spark might skip several houses and start a fire further down the street, and a number of guests were up and ready to get out if any trouble occurred.

Schmidt's Hotel.
Among those who registered at Schmidt's Hotel Saturday were: Miss Elma Hallett, Sac City, Iowa; Dr.
Burton Bohannon, St. Louis, Mo.; Mr.
and Mrs. A. H. Stanley, New Britain,
Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Stanley, Winthrop, Maine; C. A. Miller, Jacksonville; G. E. Terwilliger; N. E. Bates, C.
Clark and wife, Florida; Miss C. R. Battersby, Philadelphia; W. R. MacGayer, Waterbury, Conn.; Geo. E. Bristow,
Rahway, N. J.

The Prince George.
Among the arrivals at The Prince George over Sunday were Thomas Lewis and sister, Chicago; Arthur Fitz Williams, Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Townsend and daughter, Atlanta; Dr. and Mrs.
Henry Mitchell, Asbury Park; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Moody, Lockport, N. Y.; Chas. A. Young, Asbury Park; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Eunis, Chicago; Chas. M.
Coss, New York city.
The entrance to the yard of The Prince George was beautified Saturday
by the placing at each side of palmetto posts.

Abundant Stage Business.
Theatrical production is full of ab-surdities in business. A situation is required, a situation is thrown in. It makes not the slightest difference if it be a trolley car crew of song and dance brothers manning a yacht in the desert of Sahara. You have the trolley crew and the yacht, and if the scene happens to be a section of the arid west where typhoons take the place of waterspouts—well, so much the worse for the scene. And if the conductors collect fares from the sailors to carry out the business of the song, "We Are Jolly, Jolly Street Car Men," the audience must be prepared to submit calmly to a sandstorm immediately following,
which is necessary to bring on the wind machine and stereopticon. When a comic opera (heaven save the mark!)
opened at Madison Square roof with Japanese costumes, Broadway dialogue,
a Martin setting and Irish comedy
there were absurdities enough to delight a dozen stage directors.—Henry E. Warner in Bohemian Magazine.

How Needles Are Made.
Needles are all made by machinery.
The piece of mechanism by which the needle is manufactured takes the rough steel wire, cuts it into proper lengths, files the point, flattens the head, pierces the eye, then sharpens
the tiny instrument and gives it that polish familiar to the purchaser. There is also a machine by which needles are counted and placed in the papers in which they are sold, these being afterward folded by the same contrivance.

It Was All Within.
A practical joker carried an onion
in his pocket to the depot when bidding farewell to a young lady and took a bite now and then to induce tears. Before the train departed he had eaten the entire onion. The young lady, perceiving the situation, remarked, "Ah, you have swallowed your grief!"—Harper's Weekly.

Men of Yesterday and Today.
In our great-grandfather's young days a man was usually not only considered, but really was, elderly at forty, old at fifty and a gouty, fannel
swathed wreck at sixty.—London Throne and Country.
